

Application for the position of head of Scientific meetings at the YEHS

Dear Board of the YEHS,

I'm delighted to present my candidature for the position of head of scientific meetings.

As you might read in my resume, I took part to several scientific meetings around the globe both as a participant but also as a speaker and more recently as an organizer last winter which I'm doing again next February in the French alps.

Strong with that experience, I would like to contribute to making the YEHS a support for young surgeons all around Europe and even further and bring them all under the same banner.

As part of other scientific committees in France and Europe, I could also bridge with other meetings and make the YEHS visibility raise on a national and international level alike.

We did that for the european board of hand surgery examination with an article we wrote with friends on how to succeed in the EBHS which was then presented in several congress around europe.

I also look forward to work with young European surgeons from all over Europe, exchange ideas and efforts in making hand surgery an always appealing and comforting specialty for young surgeons and inspire future generations of surgeons.

Last but not the least I would like to offer my time and energy for educational purposes as teaching, sharing knowledge and make education in our field accessible and clear to everyone represents a life goal and purpose as that's how I walked through hand surgery and would like to give back what I once had and made me grow.
